

Dansnaam: Last in line
Artiest: Rhonda Vincent
Song: I've forgotten you

Well it's snowin' in miami and it's hailin' in l.a., money's growin' like green apples on the trees.
I've been hangin out with elvis, yeah and all my bills are paid,
and they're givin' away cadillacs for free.

The whole world gets along, and i haven't thought about you once since you've been gone.

I've forgotten you,
i've forgotten every single time you kiss me i don't miss it like you think i do.
I've forgotten you,
how you held me and it felt like it's what you were born to do.
If i lie enough it might come true,
i've forgotten you.

There's a million things about you i don't remember anymore,
like that time we got that cabin up in boulder.
Don't remember how you kiss me, up against that old oak door,
ain't it funny how things fade right when it's over.

Yeah, i'm doing fine, i sleep just like a little baby every night.

I've forgotten you,
i've forgotten every single time you kiss me i don't miss it like you think i do.
I've forgotten you,
how you held me and it felt like it's what you were born to do.
If i lie enough it might come true,
i've forgotten you.

Lead break

can't you see how i've moved on, no i haven't thought about you once since you've been gone.

I've forgotten you,
i've forgotten every single time you kiss me i don't miss it like you think i do.
I've forgotten you,
how you held me and it felt like it's what you were born to do.
If i lie enough it might come true,
i've forgotten you.

Instrumental ending